Dear Professor Barth:

The boy who I once hoped might spend some time in your family--in possible exchange for one of yours in America--is planning a bicycle trip with his cousin through Germany this summer. He expects to reach Berlin about the fourth of July. His trip includes from Berlin to Munich by way of Dresden and Heidelberg, and thence down the Rhine to Cologne.

If any of your boys are going to be along the road, I should be most pleased if Tertius and his cousin had the opportunity to meet them. I am going to give him a letter of introduction to you to use when he reaches Bonn.

Tertius is seventeen years old and hopes to enter college this fall. His cousin who is going with him, Lyman Zeigler, is a year or two older and is finishing his second year at Yale. I am wondering if the two boys might not run into some group in Germany with whom they would find it of great interest to travel. Could you give me any suggestions in that regard?

Yours sincerely,

Henry S. Huntington
