

The King and Queen with Princess Elizabeth. Disarmament Deputation of Religious Leaders. Norway's Grand Old Man. Professor Barth.

It was urged unanimously by a deputation to the Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary at 10, Downing-street in October. The photograph shows Mr. Ramsay MacDonald (left), the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Archbishop of York, Dr. J. Scott Lidgett, the Moderator of the Church of Scotland, and other Church leaders.

During the annual visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen to Balmoral, Princess Elizabeth accompanied her grandparents to Crathie Church for the first time. The little Princess paid close attention to the service.

No cricketer in England was more discussed this year than W. E. Bowes, the young Yorkshire bowler. His selection, at the last moment, to join the Test Team adds to the interest of the coming matches in Australia. He is a Methodist, as are two other members of the M.C.C. team. Yorkshire's captain, Mr. A. B. Sellers, was married recently in a Methodist church.

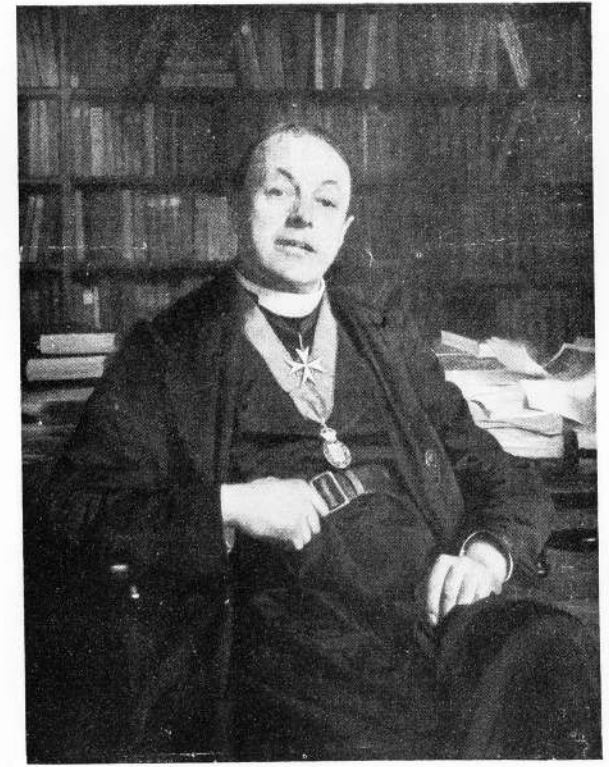

Professor Barth, the world-famed theologian, whose teaching is the centre of discussion. A new portrait which will be appreciated by those who are interested in his books.

No singer is more popular at great Free Church gatherings than Roy Henderson, F.R.A.M., the eminent baritone. In this picture he is seen with his little son and companions.

The death of the Rev. Arthur Hind came with a sense of personal bereavement to hosts of people.

The Very Rev. H. R. L. Sheppard, C.H., D.D., former Rector of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, one of the most popular voices on the Wireless. Portrait by Gerald F. Kelly, R.A., exhibited in the Royal Academy, 1932.

The Children's Church of St. Christopher, lately consecrated by the Bishop of Liverpool. The money for its erection was subscribed by children who formed an Order of Jubilee Campaigners. The church has been described as the "Toy Cathedral of Liverpool."

The King of Norway leaving the church at the funeral in Oslo of Sogneprest Herman Lunde, Norway's most famous preacher. He was 90 years old, and his popularity was wonderful. Everybody loved him, and the whole country, from King to peasant, mourned his passing.
