Professor Karl Barth,
University of Münster,
Münster, Germany.

My dear Professor Barth:

Several years ago I read your "Das Wort Gottes und die Theologie" and became very much interested in your thought. Since that time I have gone on in my study of theology, and now am preparing to write my thesis for my doctor's degree upon the subject, "The Theology of Crisis."

I expect to spend several months in Germany this fall, and also some time with Professor Brunner in Zurich, Switzerland. I was anxious to know if you expected to be in Münster during the early part of October. I would appreciate very much the privilege of a conference with you and the opportunity of speaking with you about theology. Would you be in Münster either October 3, 4, or 5; and would it be convenient for you to see me?

I have developed a great interest in your movement, and especially feel that it has very valuable elements to contribute to our American theological thought.

Hoping to have the privilege of seeing you and speaking of theology with you, I am

Respectfully yours,

Salvest H. Ellis

P.S. - If the time I suggest is inconvenient, at what other time would you suggest that I might see you?
